Insights and Interludes Second Edition

Alanna, a trustee and friend of Indian Futures, had the second edition of her spoken word event, Insights and Interludes, at Manor Road Gym, Brighton, this month.

Here Alanna and others read extracts from her work with the Dene's creative writing group and her book 'Slices of Sky and Sea'.

There were musical interludes to accompany the readings.

The event was a success. One attendee commented, 'It truly was a lovely afternoon with brilliant poems.'

We raised nearly £500. Thank you to all the people who made it possible, and in particular to Leonard for his very generous donation towards the Sponsorship Programme.

Sant Jordi Festivity Preparation

Futuraula have been planning and preparing for Sant Jordi this month. Sant Jordi is a big festival day in Catalonia in which the streets are filled with stalls selling fresh roses and books to buy for loved ones.

The students will be fundraising for Indian Futures by making beautiful rose cupcakes to sell on a street market to passersby, along with items from the tailoring project and fresh roses.
